THEATRICAL OFFERINGS

CARNIVAL MOVIES APPLAUDED AS PRESENTED AT THE BIJOU

The incongruous act of applauding a moving picture was repeated time and again last night at the Bijou theater during the presentation of the action pictures of the recent Mid-Pacific Carnival. Especially was enthusiasm aroused when the swimming races were reproduced on the screen.

When Dorothy Becker and Ruth Stacker crossed the finishing line in the 50-yard dash with the Californian in the lead the house fairly rang with applause. The fancy diving by Miss Becker and Cliff Bowes also was a popular feature.

The school chorus and dance and the peace pageant at Punahou were also shown clearly and in all their intensity. In all the pictures the big crowds of spectators are shown and it is easy to pick out yourself or acquaintances in the crowds. In the peace pageant picture Director-general Dougherty and Admiral Moore are clearly shown viewing the spectacle. Thrills are furnished by the military maneuvers at Kapiolani park showing the cavalry drill, artillery drill, horse-manship, bridge building and other active army scenes.

The three high-class vaudeville acts continue to please. Wright and Dietrich were compelled to respond to several encores in their catchy and dainty singing turn; Brown and Lawson kept the big audience in a roar of laughter during every minute they were on the stage while the Helen Leach-Wallin Trio remain ever popular in the iron law slack wire walking act with new features.

Beginning with Saturday night an added attraction at the Bijou will be Andrew Kirk, Australasia's favorite baritone, who presents America's latest creation in motion pictures to song accompaniment. The act comes highly recommended from Australia.

'TYPHOON' TO BE SUBMITTED TO SPECIAL AUDIENCE FOR TEST

"You can tell the readers of the Star-Bulletin," said Sam Blair of the Popular theater this morning, "that it is not the intention of the management of the Popular to present to the patrons of this playhouse anything that a child could not witness and leave with a clean mind. We have built up our present business by refraining from giving our patrons anything but the highest class comedy and drama that is produced in the moving picture world and this will be our policy to the end."

"I say this in answer to the few critics who have seen fit to rush into public print and condemn 'The Typhoon,' which we plan to present at the Popular next week. This is one of the highest class productions that has ever been brought to Honolulu. It tells a story; it tells it without any effort at hypocrisy and in such a manner that it makes a lasting impression on those who witness it. Simply because one of the principal characters in the plot happens to be a Japanese is that any reason this production should be suppressed? The same logic might be carried beyond and our neutrality might be questioned if, perchance, a Britisher, Frenchman, German, Russian or Australian should appear in some role that would make him appear in a bad light as an individual. In time we might be compelled to employ neutral villains in our melodramas."

"I admit 'The Typhoon' is a striking ly strong story, but I deny that it is not fit for presentation here or that it will affect anyone injuriously in a moral way. I have so high a regard for the judgment of the Japanese people on these questions that I am also sure they will have no objection to the play, despite Mr. Fred Makino's protest."

"What is more, I am willing to leave it to the public whether or not the picture shall be presented and plan to show the picture before a committee of prominent people, representing all nationalities and creeds, next Monday afternoon. I will invite Mr. Makino and the Japanese consul, other prominent Japanese and as many persons who are interested in the public welfare as possible to attend. I will abide by their decision as to whether 'The Typhoon' shall be presented. This trial run of the picture will take place next Monday afternoon."

Though the presentation of 'The Typhoon' is still a week off, it is already creating considerable discussion.

Last night the new bill was headed by 'The Pursuit of the Phantom,' a striking drama in five reels. There was a good crowd and the picture was greatly enjoyed, as was a high-class Pathe comedy and a Pathe Weekly news review, showing a number of interesting scenes from different parts of the world.

Beginning Saturday the feature picture will be 'Marta of the Lowlands.'

'THE CHIMES' AT YE LIBERTY STIRS HUMANITY OF AUDIENCE

It is the indescribable spirit of Charles Dickens, especially in that lovable character, Trotty Veck, as played by Tom Terris, that touched the hearts of everyone who witnessed this portrayal of Dickens' beautiful story last night. Not only the followers of Dickens' works, but the whole audience were moved when the visions of Trotty's dreams took him through the many forms of suffering imposed upon the poor, and his tragic acting upon his awakening stirred the sympathies of all. After being advised by Alderman Cate that it is a sin for the poor to wed, Trotty reconsiders his promise to allow his daughter Meg to wed Richard.

There are some stirring riot scenes and in the end Alderman Cate is forced to recognize the rights of the poor and gives his signature to their demands.

'TRUNK MYSTERY' AT THE EMPIRE ROMANTIC PLAY

Irene Boyle and Robert Ellis present adventurous romance that will win its way into the hearts of the spectators in 'The Trunk Mystery,' a comedy in two parts featured at the Empire theater this afternoon and evening. There is a strain of comedy running through the play that bears the mark of real fun. It is a pretty story and everything ends in a way that is most pleasant. Adelaide Laurence plays a juvenile lead. She is the means of bringing joy to an invalid father at a time when he is a victim of reverses.

"Mrs. Peyton's Pearl" is an entertaining drama in which Carlyle Blackwell has the leading part. The film portrays a mystery until the end, when everything is cleared. Tony Peyton steals his mother's valuable pearls to present to the girl he loves. Her father clears up the matter and the story ends happily.

"The mystery of the Amsterdam Diamond" is a picture whose solution will bring a hearty laugh at frequent intervals. It is a love story of the unusual sort.
